

In awarding the Nate Fleming, Paul E. Legg and Scotty Turner Memorial Scholarship, we seek to help men and women of ability and character within the American Association of Drilling Engineers to aid and extend their education. This enables them to meet the career demands of today's job market and entrepreneurial arena.

In Memory of
Nathan Zane Fleming

September 11, 1980 - January 27, 2001

Nate died in the tragic Oklahoma State University basketball plane crash on January 27, 2001 near Strasburg, Colorado on the return trip from the OSU – Colorado game.

Paul's legacy and character as an individual will never be forgotten.

In Memory of
Scotty Turner

January 30, 1956 – December 8, 2022

Scotty Turner was a founding member of the MidCon Chapter of the American Association of Drilling Engineers and he served as a board member since 1998. All that knew Scotty, immediately felt a bond and He made everyone he met feel special. When he walked into the room it lifted all spirits, that's just who he was. His leadership was always a calm, guiding hand that lead by example and you knew when he offered advice it was well thought out and from the heart. Scotty always looked for the good in everyone and every situation. Even when things seemed unbearable to most Scotty would say, “it'll get better”! He would always be there to lend a hand, offer a kind word of encouragement, or just listen. He was a man of faith, empathy and integrity and a highly respected oil and gas professional. He was loved by many colleagues and friends and will be dearly missed!
